The company's values of quality of service and product, integrity and value for all filter through the organization at all levels. The first lesson that the Keystone team learn is the ethos upon which the group continues to grow. Service at Keystone means "going through the wall" for your customers. These company values and the delivery of service we offer our customers set us apart from other businesses. We achieve this delivery of service through training of our staff and communication. We aim to engage fully with the groups, communities and individuals directly impacted by our project work and to add value to the work that we do in creating and caring for infrastructure assets by delivering additional community benefits

People

The Keystone Group make our organization a better place to work by creating a family atmosphere and the 'Keystone family' is growing on a daily basis. We have a clear strategy which is centered on a more personal, employee focused approach. It is this family atmosphere that sets our company apart from other companies. The Keystone sports and social club organise monthly events for all employees and their families. Over 70% of employees have enrolled in the sports and social club. Keystone also offer a subsidised Keystone health and fitness program and children of employees are treated to a variety of Keystone kid's club activities. This benefits employees as they are happier and feel like they are supported and valued by their employer. It also benefits the company as employees work better together as a team and have a common sense of purpose and commitment to the business. We prioritise our social responsibility by encouraging employees to nominate charities for annual donations, as well as sponsoring many of the employees' individual endeavors. The Keystone Group also invests a lot of time and money in our placement students. We currently have 7 placement students within the organization in the Marketing, technical, IG Elements, Keylite, Keylite-blinds and accounts departments.

Keystone Group work experience placements are exceptional as they provide students with real hands-on experience and training. The training offered by Keystone along with our strong lines of communication, family atmosphere and open door management policy have led to a committed, effective and motivated staff that are passionate about the success of the company. We are extremely committed to the development of our workforce and have found that our strategy of communication, excellent training and supporting our staff in all aspects of their wellbeing and happiness has really helped our business to flourish. The Keystone group continues to grow sales year on year in a depressed construction market and this success can undoubtedly be attributed to the quality of employees at all levels within the group. The Keystone Group has a strong team at all levels of the business. The company acknowledges that it's most important asset is its people. Our Investors in People accreditation acknowledges this. Every employee undergoes training at our NVQ approved premises.

The keystone team is professional, trained and motivated and combines their extensive product knowledge with a "can do" attitude. Keystone value creative thinking, unique solutions and new ideas. Sean Coyle is involved in every aspect of the business. This hands on approach from the CEO creates a passion and enthusiasm in employees that is contagious and is evident in all teams within the group
